“Our work addresses the holding back that we do, where we do not show ourselves, where we hold back feelings, where we hold back actions. Through listening to the truth of the body it is possible to discover what we can do, who we can be, what we can experience, how we can love. Rosen Method Bodywork uses gentle touch and words to support a deepening of physical and emotional awareness. It helps us open and move through the layers of chronic tension that separate us from our true selves.”
